Turkey Mountain Boys Apr 10 2021 Standing before the Hot Springs High senior class, Milo remembered Connor's demand at the train station two weeks earlier. 'sorry to miss your graduation, bud, but you are going to have to represent us both. When I leave this morning, it'll be up to you to take care of Grandma. If Callie needs anything, you try your best to help her out. OK? And, whatever you do, don't tell Grandma that I'll be riding helicopters as gunner. She'll worry herself sick. Write to me everyday—promise?' 'I promise; just be careful—promise?' 'I'll be alright. Love ya, bud.' Connor squeezed him in his famous bear hug. When Connor Flannigan was declared MIA in a warzone, there was never a doubt that his friend and blood-brother, Milo O'Brien, would come to the rescue. Risking life and limb, Milo goes to Iraq to rescue his friend. But when Milo brings Connor home, it quickly becomes apparent that things will never be the same. Milo is faced with the biggest decision of his life: taking the easy route, or digging in and taking care of his friend regardless of the cost. Turkey Mountain Boys: My Brother's Keeper is a novel about hard work, brotherhood, knee-slapping humor, and the brotherly pathos that carry friends and family through the most difficult of life's changes. Author Robert Brock gives an in-depth look into a man's psyche, while also showing a simpler life that is still available to those who take the time to live it.

Scared Sick Aug 02 2020 The first years of human life are more important than we ever realized. In Scared Sick, Robin Karr-Morse connects psychology, neurobiology, endocrinology, immunology, and genetics to demonstrate how chronic fear in infancy and early childhood -- when we are most helpless -- lies at the root of common diseases in adulthood. Compassionate and based on the latest research, Scared Sick will unveil a major public health crisis. Highlighting case studies and cutting-edge scientific findings, Karr-Morse shows how our innate fight-or-flight system can injure us if overworked in the early stages of life. Persistent stress can trigger diabetes, heart disease, obesity, depression, and addiction later on.

Liberty for the Lion Shield Dec 18 2021 In the corner of Joanne Farrell's living room sits a box once owned by her grandfather, Dr. John A. Farrell. The contents of the old wooden box aided her in her search for the secrets of people long past. Each item in the wooden time capsule gave her life new meaning and purpose while courageously she wrote her first novel. She found pride and a deep understanding of life while learning and writing about the challenges faced by those who lived long ago. It is a novel to pay tribute to the grandfather she never knew. Now, she would like to share her novel of generations of Irish heritage with the world. It is the story of the Irish coming to America through exile, famine, and chain letters of hope. Once the Irish came to America, they shared their dreams and gifts with the new nation as well as the burdens of many American hardships. Each soul in each generation gave it all, suffered great, and found the will to survive when all odds were against them and every obstacle was put in their path. Their lives changes America forever. A deeply spiritual Christian, Farrell is a strong advocate for humane policies and is active in many grassroots organizations and causes. She is an avid songwriter, poet, guitarist, painter, hiker, traveler, and mother of three. At the present, she resides in the City of Rensselaer, N.Y. on the very same street as her great grandparents did a century ago.

The Adventures of Hap Farr and Henry Hawk Dec 26 2019 Arnold Hap Fox tells the story of his adventures with Henry Hawk when they run away from the sixth grade in Cleotis, Indiana, trying to join their fathers in Biloxi on the Gulf. Inspired by Huckleberry Finn, they patch up a derelict canoe to float down the Wabash to the Ohio and then to the Mississippi. Cap'n Veech warns them, These days Huck's trip couldn't happen. There'd be Amber Alerts and squads of social workers on his tail to bring him back home and put him in counseling. Wouldn't get much past Paducah. Hap and Henry with Hap's dog Shep nearly drown, wash up in Kentucky, and begin hiking. Henry is a talented liar. Hap is more innocent and imagines the dangers ahead. They are arrested for vagrancy, thrown in jail, and wind up in protective custody on a farm where Augusta and Arbutus Gorch are experienced foster parents. Ignoring warnings about bears and snakes, Henry insists they run away to head south. After three nights in Bobcat Woods, Hap decides he isn't cut out to be an explorer. He is happy to hole up at Eve's Orchard, a floundering commune, that keeps afloat selling goat cheese and marijuana. From his reading about motherless boys, Hap worries that he will receive his comeuppance for his rebellion, but he cannot imagine what that comeuppance will be. Along the way he learns that he is more comfortable at home in his bed instead of playing Daniel Boone. He also finds out that even when adults are confused, there is more than one kind of family that cares about its children.

SO MUCH WATER, SO LITTLE WOOD Oct 16 2021 To appreciate this book readers must grasp the symbolism of its title and the front page depicting the author's life story, sometimes in rough seas. At three/four years old he was already strongly aware that he had been called into the Christian ministry, an inspiration for a long, fruitful life. He grew up helping in their South African farm life. He commuted to grammar school on horseback, accumulating enough miles to ride three times from New York to California. It was a financial struggle to become ordained as a clergyman. His story is interestingly interspersed with several short, unbelievable biographies of classmates and what life was like. Read the "The Sturdy Warrior," Chapter V and others like "Albert Schweitzer of the Bushveld", and "We Shall Triumph," in the book mentioned below. With several well-earned degrees he migrated to the USA to study at Princeton Theological Seminary, where he became a professor. But then the delicate call that had driven him since childhood was smashed seemingly beyond repair. However, for him those called into God's Kingdom can in its wideness find symbolic pulpits and lecterns in many places. Of all, he found such in Wall Street, and applied himself with the Latin saying's, strong command: age quod agis — "Do what you are doing!" How is it continuing? Please find out in this book's sequel entitled: Faith, Hope, and Determination.

Sex-Selective Abortion in India Sep 15 2021 This collection of 11 essays unravels the reasons for the depleting child sex ratio in India. The contributors, all distinguished demographers and social scientists, describe the political economy of sentiments and sexual mores that leads parents to kill unborn daughters. The contributors examine ways in which reproductive technologies, such as, the ultrasound, are misused at the family, community and state levels. In this alarming scenario, the volume highlights both the participation and defiance of the various authorities dealing with reproduction, health services and the problem of female foeticide. Engagement with the state is analysed in the light of colonial policies, the law of adoption, health policies, family planning programmes and the Pre-natal Diagnostic Techniques (PNDT) Act of 1994 and its amendment in 2002. Applying a multidisciplinary perspective to the problem of fewer girls being born in India, this volume addresses this critical issue with the help of qualitative and quantitative data, both historical and contemporary.

Complete with resources for further exploration and a helpful glossary, this funny, irreverent book will help ease every new mothers' frustrations by reminding them that they are not alone and providing tangible, easy-to-follow tips for parenting success.

Amerindian Rebirth Jul 13 2021 Until now few people have been aware of the prevalence of belief in some form of rebirth or reincarnation among North American native peoples. This collection of essays by anthropologists and one psychiatrist examines this concept among native American societies, from near the time of contact until the present day. Amerindian Rebirth opens with a foreword by Gananath Obeyesekere that contrasts North American and Hindu/Buddhist/Jain beliefs. The introduction gives an overview, and the first chapter summarizes the context, distribution, and variety of recorded belief. All the papers chronicle some aspect of rebirth belief in a number of different cultures. Essays cover such topics as seventeenth-century Huron eschatology, Winnebago ideology, varying forms of Inuit belief, and concepts of rebirth found among subarctic natives and Northwest Coast peoples. The closing chapters address the genesis and anthropological study of Amerindian reincarnation. In addition, the possibility of evidence for the actuality of rebirth is addressed. Amerindian Rebirth will further our understanding of concepts of self-identity, kinship, religion, cosmology, resiliency, and change among native North American peoples Diamond Star Halo Oct 04 2020 Growing up in a rural recording studio, Halo Llewellyn is rarely star-struck, but when one of the visiting singers gives birth to Fred, she knows right away that he's special. As the golden child grows into the gilded man, she remains dazzled by his ambition and his talent. Up on stage, being screamed at by hundreds of teenage girls, Fred will always turn his spotlight on Halo in the crowd. But that's the problem with falling in love with your charismatic almost-brother - it can never be a secret. In the end, the whole world has to know.

Social Poverty May 31 2020 How low-income people cope with the emotional dimensions of poverty Could a lack of close, meaningful social ties be a public—rather than just a private—problem? In Social Poverty, Sarah Halpern-Meekin provides a much-needed window into the nature of social ties among low-income, unmarried parents, highlighting their often-ignored forms of hardship. Drawing on in-depth interviews with thirty-one couples, collected during their participation in a government-sponsored relationship education program called Family Expectations, she brings unprecedented attention to the relational and emotional dimensions of socioeconomic disadvantage. Poverty scholars typically focus on the economic use value of social ties—for example, how relationships enable access to job leads, informal loans, or a spare bedroom. However, Halpern-Meekin introduces the important new concept of "social poverty," identifying it not just as a derivative of economic poverty, but as its own condition, which also perpetuates poverty. Through a careful and nuanced analysis of the strengths and limitations of relationship classes, she shines a light on the fundamental place of core socioemotional needs in our lives. Engaging and compassionate, Social Poverty highlights a new direction for policy and poverty research that can enrich our understanding of disadvantaged families around the country.

Archons Nov 05 2020 Having been caught stealing back into the garden, Nod thought his days on this earth had come to an end. He and his people had sought eternal life and boundless wisdom by eating the fruit beyond the walls. Now, standing guilty before God, the best they could hope for was a quick and painless death. But what happened next came as complete surprise. As a punishment, God gave Nod and his people what they had attempted to steal; Immortality and power. Trouble was, it came with a price. Now they were locked into a war with the immortal enemies of mankind.

The Day I Sat With Jesus Aug 26 2022 The Day I Sat On the Sun Deck is a funny, philosophical, sexy, sad and searching story that explores faith, the nature of belief, with the lightness of a meringue. When Jesus visits the hero of Sawai's most successful short story on a Monday morning in September 1972, they drink a glass of wine, spill some tea, talk about breasts. Then, his time is up. "That's what happened to me in Moose Jaw in 1972," she writes. "It was the main thing that happened to me that year."

Fighting Viet Cong in the Rung Sat Feb 20 2022 The Vietnam War was not going well in 1968. The January Tet Offensive--a tactical defeat but strategic victory for North Vietnam--showed the U.S. military and the American public that the enemy remained determined, no nearer defeat. Americans grew war weary while politicians and military leaders could not agree on how to win or how to withdraw. Between combat tours, the author served as a U.S. Army company commander--a job he came to despise. Experiencing what he perceived as a degradation in the Army's senior command, he resigned his commission. Yet he needed money to complete graduate school and volunteered to return to Vietnam as a combat advisor. This memoir describes his participation in the fiercest fighting of the war, on the Cambodian border, where he almost died of hookworm and was shot in a night operation. In Saigon to recuperate, he was tasked with creating an advisory team to train South Vietnamese commandos to conduct raids in the swamps south of Saigon, the Rung Sat Special Zone. For seven months they were successful, with Worthington receiving seven combat decorations.

Deprivational Mean Jan 27 2020 Ten years its been since Roy and Amanda were in college. Upon reintroducing themselves years later, Roy and Amanda took completely opposite paths to get where they are. One with eye burning long hours of work and the other with a surplus to enjoy everything life has to offer. Is Roy and Amanda destined in the pick of the litter? The one aspect in common between Amandas lifestyle in the higher class of society and Roys lower class deprivation is a life of purpose and money. This story of two people having different set backs and opportunities after college will create a surprising low and high volatile ride.

The Hidden Intelligence Nov 24 2019 The Hidden Intelligence explores what intuition is and is not, and why it is often hidden. Based on interviews with executives from Fortune 500 organizations to entrepreneurial startups, the book is full of insights the author has gathered over the years working with creative problem solving and ideation techniques. It brings our intuition into the mainstream of those skills crucial to running a successful business. The Hidden Intelligence explores how intuition in its various forms helps to create new products and marketing strategies at large and organizations. It explains what is and what is not intuition, why it is often hidden, and demonstrates that when it is used correctly, the intuitively-based decision is always correct. Sandra Weintraub began Management Resources over twenty years ago as a training and management development consulting firm. She has provided training for Fortune 500, educational, and governmental organizations, served as an adjunct professor in management skills at Brandeis University, and published several articles on management and intuition.

Sofia Tolstaya, the Author Jun 24 2022 Dealing with the most topical questions of the time, Sofia Tolstaya's artistic works—from parables to short stories, novellas, and memoirs—show deep insights into the social context of nineteenth-century Russia. In his lengthy review of My Life (along with other Tolstaya publications) in Canadian Slavonic Papers, the eminent Tolstoy scholar Hugh McLean (2011) laments the fact that it has taken so long (almost a century after her death) to focus academic attention on Sofia Tolstaya, and that there has been no unified publication of her works, scattered as they are among dated journals or not published at all. This book aims to help fill this lacuna by offering a critical introduction to her literary output as a writer in her own right, and presenting, for the first time, an anthology of her main artistic works, some in fresh English translation, and others never translated before.

It Came from Hell Aug 22 2019 Sarah and Dan Majors tried everything to have a child, but were unsuccessful until they answered an ad in the local newspaper. The Major's said "What the Hell. We've tried everything else why not give this a shot." What the Hell is right. The Major's prayers would be answered from Hell. The Major's got in their car and headed to their destination with high hopes to put an end to the many years of failed pregnancies. Their destination would lead them deep into the mountains to a Witch Doctor that lives in a cave. As the Majors were driving through the rough terrain Sarah questioned her husbands' directions. Dan reassured his wife he called the phone number in the ad and repeated back the directions twice. Sarah said "I don't like this. Why don't we turn back and try something else?" Dan again replied "We've tried everything. Now just be calm we're almost there. I can see the cave from here and I can see someone coming out of the cave waving at us." "I hope you're right about this," said his wife nervously. Dan drove up and parked his car in front of the cave. A man came up to Dan's car and knocked on his driver side window. Dan rolled his window down and said "You must be the Witch Doctor that is going to help my wife become pregnant." "Yes, I am the Witch Doctor that will make your dream come true. Now just follow me inside the cave and we'll get started." The Witch Doctor reassured Sarah she will conceive guaranteed if she follows his instructions. Sarah said "Okay, let's get on with it." The Witch Doctor said "Listen to what I say carefully and you will not fail. The whole process will take a month and will consist of three shots per week and an incantation said at night before you go to bed. Lastly, there will be a small fee of $5,000 dollars to cover medication and my services. Are there any questions?" Sarah and Dan said "No." "Okay, well, let us begin," exclaimed the Witch Doctor. The Witch Doctor rolled up Sarah's sleeve and administered the series of three shots in her arm and handed her an envelope with the incantation in it. Sarah and Dan thanked the Witch Doctor and headed back home and when nightfall came Sarah said the incantation and slept like a baby all night. Except for the nightmares of seeing demons Sarah would wake up every night in a cold sweat and scream out "Satan, I'm having your baby." Finally, the end of the month came and the Witch Doctor would not be seeing Sarah and Dan until eight months later to deliver her baby. For eight months Sarah was still having nightmares and saying things in her sleep like, "Satan it's almost time for our baby to be born. I'm going to be your bride soon and I'm going to name him "Sata." "The time has come. Let's go see the Witch Doctor and deliver our beautiful baby boy," said Sarah to her husband. They got in the car and as they were traveling down the road to see the Witch Doctor, Dan asked his wife. "How do you know it's a boy?" asked her husband. "It came to me in a dream one night and I've already got a name picked out for him," said Sarah as her eyes were glowing red. Dan did a double take and gazed in to her eyes, but they changed back to her pretty blue eyes. Dan just shook his head and thought to himself, "It must have been a trick of the light." Dan asked, "What's the name that you picked out for our new baby?" "Sata," answered Sarah. "That's different, but Sata Majors doesn't sound bad at all," replied Dan. The Majors' arrived just in time to the Witch Doctors' cave because Sarah's contractions were getting unbearable during the drive up the mountains rough terrain. Sarah said "Hurry! Honey! I think my water broke." Dan put the car in park and jumped out of the car and ran over to help his wife out of the car. Sarah put her arm around her husbands' neck and the Witch Doctor helped them both into the cave to deliver unbeknownst to Dan a demon child from Hell. As the Witch Doctor pulled the baby from Sarah's womb, Dan said "Oh! My God!! What is it?" Sarah replied "It's Satan's baby. Look he's got your eyes. Don't you want to hold your son?"
