Culture That Counts Apr 29 2020 Representing a compilation of articles from the Journal of Mathematics and Culture, we asked authors from early JMC editions to write and share with our readership where their respective research is at the tenth anniversary of JMC. To that end, original first publications and the authors' response in year ten are included. Through the years many of us associated with JMC have been questioned about potential curriculum materials that would support classroom efforts to include Ethnomathematics as a topic or as a stand alone course that many of our colleagues in higher education are conducting. Our compilation is in response to the request for classroom materials.
