Sociologist's Training Manual for Historians Oct 22 2019 Zito has put together a powerful sociological and historical primer targeted to novices and the knowledgeable alike. Are the writers of texts sociologists or historians? How do you judge? How do you combine sociology and history in one text? Are there guidelines for writing a socio-historical work? This book answers these questions and others through a dynamic analysis of two current socio-historical texts. Dr. Zito surgically applies two standards: one sociological which lucidly defines and uses such concepts as ideal type, power or "macht," and social structure. Second, the historical approach defines and uses concepts such as periodization, historical imagination and the role of mathematical probability in the outcome of historical events. Zito's final chapter illuminates the strengths and weaknesses of both studies and arrives at revelatory conclusions.

Training Techniques of Creative Problem Solving Feb 06 2021 You are creative. No doubt about it. But you are not aware of it. Your creative potentials are dormant, waiting to be aroused from deep slumber. This book aims just at that objective by answering an array of questions like: What is creativity? Why is it dormant? How to unlock it? How do we define a problem? How to find a useful solution to a problem? And so on. All that it requires to answer such questions is: DESIRE and WILL. We have a much greater thinking capacity than we ever use. While unfolding this truth, this book reveals the strategies to remove roadblocks and negativity that stunts the growth of the imaginative faculty. After getting the feel of release, discussions lead to ways and means of developing creativity, i.e. unique ability to solve problems in an innovative way. Efforts are also made to convince the readers that creativity can be applied each day to many aspects of our everyday life by following the leads. If you desire to ignite the latent spark in your mind, and cherish to be creative, this book is for you.
